BAND STORY

"What can I say? Just me and my guitar, some cheap recording equipment and a lot of pain and depression. Music has always been my therapy, my songs are snapshots of my soul during difficult times in my life. They are nothing ground breaking, or particularly well produced (I am not a perfectionist, re-recording until every note is perfect.) But they are an honest look at basic human emotions. The vast majority of the songs I have written over the last couple of years deal with a painful breakup I went through three years ago. I can't really imagine that they would mean much to anybody besides myself, but if any of my songs do affect you, please let me know."

Somewhere In Between

Well I finally finished it, my debut album "Somewhere in Between" is complete. 10 tracks make up my first attempt at music publishing, and I must say that I am proud of my work. Nothing earth shattering, but the songs are honest. Half of the album is posted here, and I will probably put up the other half soon so check back. Please email any comments or suggestions, I appreciate the feedback. Thanks.
